

Brett Weston: Out of the Shadow
A bibliography of books to share with children

Snowflake Bentley by Jacqueline Briggs Martin, illus. by Mary Azarian

Winner of the 1999 Caldecott Medal. The biography of William Bentley, a Vermont farm boy, who dedicated his life from a very young age to photographing snowflakes.

The Look Book by Tana Hoban

This wordless book is filled with bright, crisp photographs. Viewers first encounter a piece of an image, viewed through a small, die-cut circle on a black page. The full-color object could be it a flower, a pigeon, or a hot pretzel and is revealed with the turn of a page.

Shadows and Reflections; So Many Circles; So Many Squares; Spirals, Curves, Fanshapes and Lines; Of Colors and Things; Shapes, Shapes, Shapes by Tana Hoban

All of these titles are wordless picture books that explore basic concepts such and shape and color through photographs.

The Mysteries of Harris Burdick by Chris Van Allsburg

Readers are challenged to provide the stories for the more than a dozen black and white illustrations.

Ansel Adams: America's Photographer: A Biography for Young People by Beverly Gherman

A clear and insightful biography of Ansel Adams interspersed with his photographs.

Max and Felix by Larry Dane Brimner, illus. by Les Gray

Max and Felix, the two funny frogs featured in this chapter book, record their mishaps and misadventures with the click of a camera.

Flotsam by David Wiesner

Winner of the 2007 Caldecott Medal. A day at the beach like no other! A boy finds an old camera that has washed ashore and thus begins an incredible story-in-pictures.

Guess Whose Shadow? by Stephen R. Swinburne

Swinburne has taken a simple concept and created an interesting, joyful, and challenging experience for young readers. His pictures remind them that shadows are of all shapes and sizes and appear everywhere. And everything has one, even inanimate objects.

Bread, Bread, Bread; Hats, Hats, Hats; and Shoes, Shoes, Shoes by Ann Morris, photographs by Ken Heyman

Brief texts introduce their title topics, but it is really the rich, full-color photos from around the world that tell the stories.

Russell and the Lost Treasure by Rob Scotton

Russell the sheep is determined to find the Lost Treasure of Frogsbottom. Equipped with his Super-Duper Treasure Seeker, Russell searches high and low, up and down, and in and out.
